

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Watchful neighbors stop crime.

Learning Outcome

Identify and describe rules and obligations through a wider range of language and expressions in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What is your neighborhood like?
- Do you know your neighbors? Why or why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about rules, regulations, crime and punishment.
- I can talk about what is supposed to happen.
- I can talk about things I had done or things that had happened.

Let's Explore!

Let's read about a neighborhood watch program. Does it scare off criminals?

* To "scare off" means to frighten someone away from an area.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Watchful Neighbors Stop Crime

Crime in the city was becoming a daily reality for our residents. Before 2010, the number of home and car break-ins had nearly doubled in the metropolitan area. We had feared walking home at night because so many murders and assaults were reported. The whole city wasn't able to be patrolled at once by police. There was only one solution to the fight against crime: community involvement.

In response to the ever-increasing crime rates, neighborhood watch programs sprang up all over the city. What is neighborhood watch? In simple terms, it is a program that is supposed to organize residents to help protect the community. People who live in the area volunteer to watch out for suspicious occurrences and to exchange information with each other, city officials, and the police force. The result is supposed to be a safer community with a better quality of life.

In all six of the districts that began programs, the rate of breaking and entering has decreased to almost zero. In one district, two burglars were caught breaking and entering, and both were arrested, prosecuted, and convicted. As one resident put it, "I'm glad we had started a neighborhood watch program as early as we did. Neighborhood watch scares off criminals."

Let's Practice!

Neighborhood watch is a great idea!

Instructions: Read the sentences below and circle the incorrect words.

1. It is a program that is supposes to organize residents to help protect the community.
2. The result is supposed to been a safer community with a better quality of life.
3. The whole city is supposed too be patrolled by police.
4. People who live in the area are supposed to watching out for suspicious occurrences and to exchange information.
5. Neighborhood watch is supposed to scares off criminals.

Let's Practice!

Brad talks about the results of starting neighborhood watch.

Instructions: Read the sentences below and circle the incorrect words.

1. Before 2010, the number of home and car break-ins has nearly double in the metropolitan area.
2. We has fearing walking home at night because so many murders and assaults were reported.
3. The whole city hadn't be patrolled by police.
4. "I'm glad we has started a neighborhood watch program before things got really bad."
5. Before we starts the neighborhood watch program, the rate of breaking and entering had increased a lot.

Extension Activity

Start a neighborhood watch group in your community.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- On the internet, research neighborhood watch and what it does.
- Think about your own community and how neighborhood watch could help.
- With a partner, develop a neighborhood watch program for your community. Write a list of things that neighbors can do to reduce crime.
- Make a poster to advertise your neighborhood watch group.
- Present your ideas and your poster to your group.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about rules, regulations, crime and punishment.

☐ ☐

I talk about what is supposed to happen.

☐ ☐

I talk about things that I had done or things that had happened.

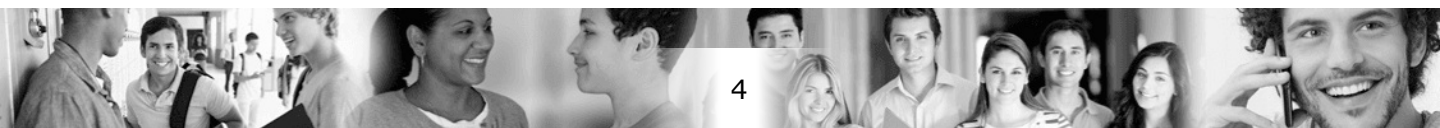

☐ ☐

I develop and talk about a plan to reduce crime in my community.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- watchful (adjective): observant; attentive
e.g. Watchful neighbors stop crime.
- break-in (noun): an occasion when someone illegally enters a building e.g. Before 2010, the number of home and car break-ins had nearly doubled in the metropolitan area.
- to patrol (verb): to keep watch over (an area) by regularly traveling around or through it e.g. The whole city wasn't able to be patrolled at once by police.
- to spring up (verb): to appear suddenly e.g. Neighborhood watch programs sprang up all over the city.
- to watch out for (verb): to look for e.g. People who live in the area volunteer to watch out for criminals.
- suspicious (adjective): causing someone to believe that something is not right e.g. Neighbors look for suspicious activity.
- occurrence (noun): happening; incident; event
e.g. Neighbors look for suspicious occurrences.
- quality of life (noun): the standard of health, comfort, and happiness experienced by an individual or group e.g. The result is supposed to be a safer community with a better quality of life.
- breaking and entering (noun): the act of illegally opening and entering someone's house e.g. In all six of the districts that began programs, the rate of breaking and entering has decreased to almost zero.

Learning Points

Simple Past Passive

You use an active structure when you want the 'doer' of the action to be the subject.
You use a passive structure when you want the 'receiver' of the action to be the subject.

Active sentence = People (subject) reported murders (object) in our area.

Passive sentence = Murders (subject) were reported in our area (by people).

It is not necessary to mention the object in a passive sentence.

You make the passive form of a verb by using tenses of the 'to be' verb followed by the past participle.

The Simple Past passive form is:

was/were + past participle

The building was built in 1993.

Examples:

- The whole city wasn't patrolled at once by police.
- Many murders and assaults were reported.

Learning Points

The Past Perfect Tense

You use the Past Perfect tense to identify and talk about an 'earlier past'.

When you are talking about a past event, you can refer to something that happened at an earlier time to that past event by using the Past Perfect tense.

The structure of the Past Perfect is:

Subject + had + past participle

When I arrived at the party, Vanessa had already gone home.

Which event happened first? Vanessa went home.

Which event happened later? I arrived at the party.

You use the Past Perfect tense (not Simple Past) when you want to talk about how long something had continued up to a past moment.

Examples:

- Before 2010, the number of home and car break-ins had nearly doubled in the metropolitan area.
- We had feared walking home at night.
- "I'm glad we had started a neighborhood watch program as early as we did."

