

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

What a crazy story!

Learning Outcome

Identify and describe rules and obligations through a wider range of language and expressions in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Have you heard any crazy stories lately? What were they about?
- Can you think of any crime movies with really good stories? What are they?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about rules, regulations, crime and punishment.
- I can talk about what is supposed to happen.
- I can talk about what I was doing or what was happening.

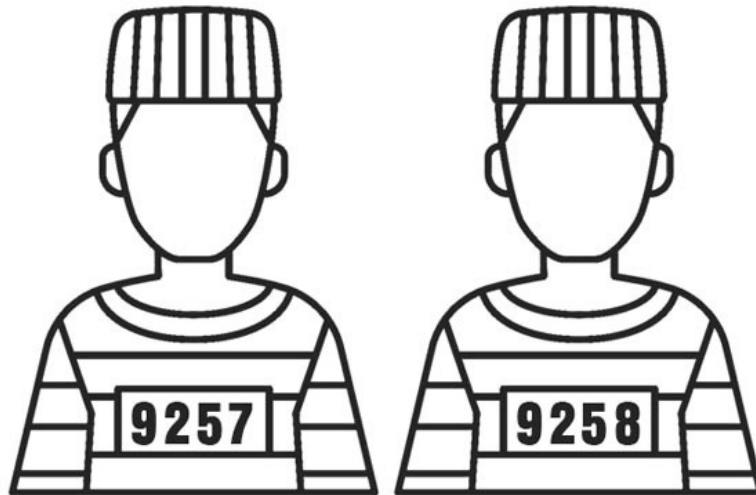

Let's Explore!

Let's read a story about Roy and Anthony. How did they trick each other?

* To "trick" means to fool someone into believing something.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

The Trial Swap

The story of Roy Rivers and Anthony Jackson illustrates the expression "justice works in mysterious ways."

Both young men were arrested on the same day and brought to a Texas prison. They met while they were waiting together in the holding cell on their way to their own separate trials at the county courthouse. Roy, who had been arrested on serious drug charges, mistakenly thought that Anthony was supposed to be in court for a petty crime.

Anthony, on the other hand, thought that Roy was supposed to be on trial for credit card fraud, a less serious crime than his own.

Each was thinking that the other was in less trouble than himself and decided to switch places for their court appearances.

While Roy was being called by the judge, Anthony took his place. Nobody noticed the swap, but Anthony was shocked to discover that Roy wasn't a small-time drug seller but one of the biggest drug smugglers in the country. He was immediately taken to a maximum security prison and was supposed to face up to 15 years in prison.

Meanwhile, Roy, who had been sure that he would be back at home within a short time, discovered that Anthony had been arrested for murder and was wanted in over 10 states. Both men spent the rest of their lives figuring out how they had been tricked.

Let's Practice!

What did Roy and Anthony do?

Instructions: Select all the correct answers.

Which sentences are NOT grammatically correct?

1. Roy was supposed to been in court for a petty crime.
2. Anthony, on the other hand, thought that Roy was supposed to be on trial for credit card fraud.
3. He was immediately taken to a maximum security prison and was supposed to facing up to 15 years in prison.
4. Roy was supposed to called by the judge but Anthony took his place.
5. The police were supposed to arrest Roy on serious drug charges.
6. Both men were supposed to go to jail.
7. Roy and Anthony weren't supposed to swap places in court.

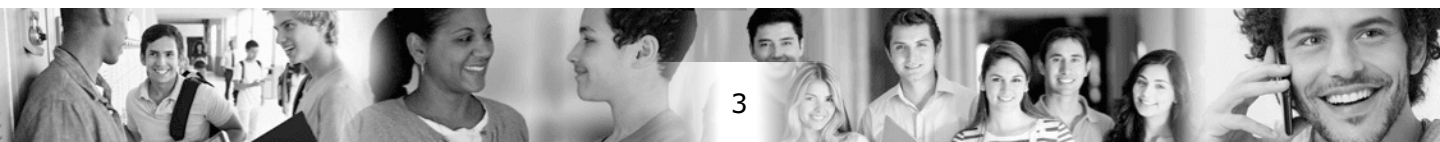

Let's Practice!

How does "justice work in mysterious ways" in this story?

Instructions: Proofread the following sentences. Circle the incorrect words. Write the correct words in front of each sentence. Read the sentences again with the correct words and check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. They met while they were wait together in the holding cell on their way to their own separate trials. _____ .
2. Each was thinks that the other was in less trouble than himself and decided to switch places for their court appearances. _____ .
3. While Roy were being called by the judge, Anthony took his place. _____ .
4. When the men were go to prison, they realized their mistake. _____ .
5. While Roy and Anthony is serving their prison sentences, they thought about what had happened. _____ .

Extension Activity

Role-play a police investigation.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Yesterday a house was robbed between 4:00 p.m and 6:00 p.m. The police are asking the neighbors for information.
- In your group of four, one student is the police officer and the other students are neighbors.
- The police officer will ask the neighbors what they were doing yesterday between 4:00 and 6:00.
- The neighbors will tell the police officer what they were doing. (Make up whatever you want!)
- The police officer will decide who he thinks is a suspect in the robbery.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about rules, regulations, crime and punishment.

☐ ☐

I talk about what is supposed to happen.

☐ ☐

I talk about what I was doing or what is happening.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to illustrate (verb): to show
e.g. The story of Roy Rivers and Anthony Jackson illustrates the expression "justice works in mysterious ways."
- holding cell (noun): a small room where people wait to have their trial e.g. They met while they were waiting together in the holding cell.
- mistakenly (adverb): by mistake
e.g. Roy mistakenly thought that Anthony was supposed to be in court for a petty crime.
- fraud (noun): criminal deception intended to result in financial gain e.g. Roy was supposed to be on trial for credit card fraud.
- court appearance (noun): the moment when a person faces a judge, jury or lawyer
e.g. They decided to switch places for their court appearances.
- swap (noun): the condition of switching places
e.g. Nobody noticed the swap.
- small-time (adjective): minor
e.g. Anthony was shocked to discover that Roy wasn't a small-time drug seller.
- smuggler (noun): a person who secretly transports illegal materials e.g. Roy was one of the biggest drug smugglers in the country.
- to be wanted (verb): to be a target for police
e.g. Anthony had been arrested for murder and was wanted in over 10 states.
- to face (verb): to confront or to look forward toward e.g. He was immediately taken to a maximum security prison and was supposed to face up to 15 years in prison.

Learning Points

Be Supposed To

You use the structure be supposed to when you want to talk about expectations, obligations or arrangements.

You can use be supposed to to talk about situations in the past, present or future.

The structure is:

Subject + To be + supposed to + verb

Twelve people are supposed to decide whether the accused is guilty or innocent.

*Pronunciation tip:

When you say be supposed to, you link the /d/ and /t/ sounds together.

Like this:

Be suppose_to

Examples:

- Anthony was supposed to be in court for a petty crime.
- Roy was supposed to be on trial for credit card fraud.
- He was immediately taken to a maximum security prison and was supposed to face up to 15 years in prison.

Learning Points

The Past Continuous Tense

You use the Past Continuous tense to talk about an action that was happening at a time before now.

You can use the Past Continuous to:

- to describe the background in a story written in the past tense

For example:

The children were laughing and the birds were singing in the park. A woman was looking for her phone, which she had dropped somewhere ...

- to describe an action that was interrupted by another event or action

For example:

I was reading the news the other day when I came across an article that talked about a trial by judge.

The form of the Past Continuous is:

Subject + was/were + verb-ing

Examples:

- They met while they were waiting together in the holding cell on their way to their own separate trials at the county courthouse.
- While Roy was being called by the judge, Anthony took his place.
- Each was thinking that the other was in less trouble than himself, and they decided to switch places for their court appearances.

